

How lowering the levels of pollution

Created by Leonardo Neri

We can change the way we move

- If it is possible we can take the electric car or electric bike. Another way is using public transport. In this way maybe we can reduce air pollution.

Reduce industrial air pollution

- I think that if it is possible we can find new cleaner energy sources. In the last years we have seen some improvements in this sector, but it remains an important source of emission.

Solar panels

We can use also solar panels. In this way we can use the renewable energy of sun, reducing the use of oil and gas.
